Chuck Yarbrough Receives National Business Association Award

WASHINGTON, D.C., July 20, 2010 – The primary national research and consulting organization focused on unemployment insurance and workers’ compensation announced its annual awards for contributions to the business community in the area of Unemployment Insurance at its national conference held in Chicago. Established in 1933, UWC – Strategic Services on Unemployment & Workers’ Compensation (UWC) is the national organization that serves as the voice of business on unemployment and workers’ compensation issues for Fortune 500 companies, national and state business associations and state agencies across the country.

The J. Eldred Hill Award is presented to an individual who has demonstrated leadership and made outstanding contributions to the business community in the development of law and policy over a span of years. The award is named for the distinguished past President of the organization, J. Eldred Hill. We are pleased this year to present the award to Chuck Yarbrough,” said Douglas J. Holmes, President of UWC.

“Chuck Yarbrough has demonstrated a long term commitment to the very best in serving business in human resources. He served as Vice President and/or Human Resources Manager at a number of companies including Tyson Foods and Tracker Marine/Bass Pro Shops, was a member of the State of Arkansas and Missouri unemployment advisory councils, served as an employer representative for the US Department of Labor, and was previously recognized with the Citation award from the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security”, said Holmes.

Mr. Yarbrough is a past Chairman of UWC – Strategic Services on Unemployment & Workers’ Compensation and served in an advisory role for the National Foundation for Unemployment Compensation and Workers’ Compensation for many years. “He has testified before Congress on unemployment insurance reform and been a tireless advocate for the business community in improving employment services. This award adds to Chuck’s impressive career,” said Matt Harvill, Chairman of the Board of UWC and Vice President of Unemployment Compensation for Kelly Services.
